70 Red Buckets of Surprises!

“ I recently, about 2 years ago, took over the reins of our family business as a result of my brother retiring. We have been blessed with plenty of work ever since. We are a small job shop in NW Indiana, but seem to get involved with many different projects both with liquid systems such as you manufacture and powder coating projects. Most of our jobs are specified as to what material is to be used. However, when there is a generic request, I usually try to steer them to a Carboline system. I know the product is top notch and competitively priced. I also use your technical services when recommendations are asked for specific chemical environment applications. Your Tech team and our sales rep. Tim Aldrich, just like Jim Creed before him, have always been very helpful to me. ”
